PTSD

DSM-V definition: After a trauma (the experience, threat, or witnessing of physical harm, e.g., rape, hurricane), the person has each of the following key symptoms for over a month, and they result in decreased ability to function (e.g., work, social life): intrusion (e.g., flashbacks, nightmares); avoidance (not wanting to talk about it or remember); negative thoughts and mood; and arousal (e.g., insomnia, anger).

Simple PTSD results from a single event in adulthood (DSM-V symptoms); Complex PTSD is not a DSM term but may result from multiple traumas, typically in childhood (broad symptoms, including personality problems)

Rates: 10% for women, 5% for men (lifetime, U.S.). Up to 1/3 of people exposed to trauma develop PTSD.

Treatment: if untreated, PTSD can last for decades; if treated, people can recover. Evidence-based treatments include cognitive-behavioral-- coping skills training and exposure, i.e., processing the trauma story.

Substance Abuse

"The compulsion to use despite negative consequences" (e.g., legal, physical, social, psychological). Note that neither amount of use nor physical dependence define substance abuse.

DSM-V term is "substance-related and addictive disorder", which can be mild, moderate, or severe.

Rates: 35% for men; 18% for women (lifetime, U.S.)

It is treatable disorder and a "no-fault" disorder (i.e., not a moral weakness)

Two ways to give it up: "cold turkey" (give up all substances forever; abstinence model) or "warm turkey" (harm reduction, in which any reduction in use is a positive step); moderation management, some people can use in a controlled fashion-- but only those not dependent on substances, and without co-occurring disorders).

The Link Between PTSD and Substance Abuse

About PTSD and substance abuse

Rates: Of clients in substance abuse treatment, 12%-34% have current PTSD. For women, rates are 33%-59%.

Gender: For women, typically a history of sexual or physical childhood trauma; for men, combat or crime

Drug choice: No one drug of choice, but PTSD is associated with severe drugs (cocaine, opioids); in 2/3 of cases the PTSD occurs first, then substance abuse.

Treatment issues

Other life problems are common: other Axis I disorders, personality disorders, interpersonal and medical problems, inpatient admissions, low compliance with aftercare, homelessness, domestic violence.

PTSD does not go away with abstinence from substances; and, PTSD symptoms are widely reported to become worse with initial abstinence.

Splits in treatment systems (mental health versus substance abuse).

Fragile treatment alliances and multiple crises are common.

Treatments helpful for either disorder alone may be problematic if someone has both disorders (e.g., emotionally intense exposure therapies, benzodiazepines), and should be evaluated carefully prior to use.

Recommended treatment strategies

Treat both disorders at the same time. Research supports this and clients prefer this.

Decide how to treat PTSD in context of active substance abuse. Options: (1) Focus on present only (coping skills, psychoeducation, educate about symptoms) [safest approach, widely recommended]. (2) Focus on past only (tell the trauma story) [high risk; works for some clients] (3) Focus on both present and past

Diversity Issues

Respect cultural differences and tailor treatment to be sensitive to historical prejudice. Recognize that terms such as trauma, PTSD, and addiction may be interpreted differently based on culture. Cultures also have protective factors (religion, kinship) that may prevent or heal trauma / addiction.

Seeking Safety

About Seeking Safety

- ♦ A present-focused model to help clients (male and female) attain safety from PTSD and substance abuse.
- ♦ Up to 25 topics that can be conducted in any order, doing as many as time allows:
 - Interpersonal topics: Honesty, Asking for Help, Setting Boundaries in Relationships, Getting Others to Support Your Recovery, Healthy Relationships, Community Resources
 - Cognitive topics: PTSD: Taking Back Your Power, Compassion, When Substances Control You, Creating Meaning, Discovery, Integrating the Split Self, Recovery Thinking
 - Behavioral topics: Taking Good Care of Yourself, Commitment, Respecting Your Time, Coping with Triggers, Self-Nurturing, Red and Green Flags, Detaching from Emotional Pain (Grounding)

- Other topics: Introduction/Case Management, Safety, Life Choices, Termination
- ♦ Designed for flexible use: can be conducted in group or individual format; for women, men, or mixed-gender; using all topics or fewer topics; in a variety of settings; and with a variety of providers (and peers).

Key principles of Seeking Safety

- s Safety as the goal for first-stage treatment (later stages are mourning and reconnection)
- ☑ Integrated treatment (treat both disorders at the same time)
- cs A focus on ideals to counteract the loss of ideals in both PTSD and substance abuse
- s Four content areas: cognitive, behavioral, interpersonal, case management
- Attention to clinician processes: balance praise and accountability; notice your own emotional responses (fear, wish to control, joy in the work, disappointment); all-out effort; self-care

Additional features

- * Trauma details not part of group therapy; in individual therapy, assess client's safety and monitor carefully (particularly if has history of severe trauma, or if client is actively using substances)
- * Identify meanings of substance use in context of PTSD (to remember, to forget, to numb, to feel, etc.)
- * Optimistic: focus on strengths and future
- * Help clients obtain more treatment and attend to daily life problems (housing, AIDS, jobs)
- Harm reduction model or abstinence
- 12-step groups encouraged, not required
- * Empower clients whenever possible
- * Make the treatment engaging: quotations, everyday language
- * Emphasize core concepts (e.g., "You can get better")

Evidence Base

Seeking Safety is an evidence-based model, with over 45 published research articles and consistently positive results. For all studies, go to www.seekingsafety.org, section Evidence. Studies include pilots, randomized controlled trials, multisite trials.

Resources on Seeking Safety. All below are available from www.seekingsafety.org and/or from the order form toward the end of these handouts.

- In 2023 two new mobile apps for clients: Ground Now (a feature-rich app to teach grounding) and Seeking Safety (building a community of recovery and all of the Seeking Safety content). Both are Android and iOS, on a subscription basis. Email us or see our website for details and availability.
- ♦ Implementation / research articles: all articles related to Seeking Safety can be freely downloaded.
- → Training: training calendar and information on setting up a training (section Training).
- ♦ Consultation: on clinical implementation, research studies, evaluation projects.
- → Fidelity Scale: free download (section Assessment).
- ♦ Book: Seeking Safety: A Treatment Manual for PTSD and Substance Abuse. Has the clinician guide and all client handouts. Also available in Spanish, French, German, Swedish, Danish, Japanese, Arabic, Dutch, Polish, Chinese, Vietnamese, Portuguese, Italian, and Greek. Upcoming: American Sign Language will soon be available.
- ♦ DVD training series: 4 training videos on Seeking Safety. (1) Seeking Safety (2-hour training video by Lisa Najavits); (2) Asking for Help (one-hour demonstration of a group session with real clients); (3) A Client's Story (26 minute unscripted life story by a male trauma survivor) and Teaching Grounding (16 minute example of the grounding scriptfrom Seeking Safety with a male client); (4) Adherence Session (1-hour session for rating with the Seeking SafetyAdherence Scale).
 - ♦ Online learning
- ♦ Teaching Guide to Introduce Seeking Safety to your agency
- ♦ Engagement materials: card deck, poster, magnets, wallet card, key chain of the safe coping skills; in English, Spanish, French.

Safe Coping Skills (Part 1)

from "Seeking Safety: Cognitive- Behavioral Therapy for PTSD and Substance Abuse" by Lisa M. Najavits, Ph.D.

1. Ask for help- Reach out to someone safe 2. Inspire yourself- Carry something positive (e.g., poem), or negative (photo of friend who overdosed) 3. Leave a bad scene- When things go wrong, get out Never, never, never, never, never, never, never, never give up 5. Honesty- Secrets and lying are at the core of PTSD and substance abuse; honesty heals them 6. Cry- Let yourself cry; it will not last forever respect- Choose whatever will make you like yourself tomorrow 8. Take good care of your body- Eat right, 9. List your options- In any situation, you have choices exercise, sleep, safe sex 10. Create meaning-Remind yourself what you are living for: your children? Love? Truth? Justice? God? 11. Do the best you can with what you have- Make the most of available opportunities 12. Set a boundary- Say "no" to protect 13. Compassion- Listen to yourself with respect and care 14. When in doubt, do what's hardest- The most difficult path is invariably the right one 15. Talk yourself through it- Self-talk helps in difficult times 16. Imagine- Create a mental picture that helps you feel different (e.g., remember a safe place) 17. Notice the choice point- In slow motion, notice the exact moment when you chose a substance 18. Pace yourself- If overwhelmed, go slower; if stagnant, go faster 19. Stay safe- Do whatever you need to do to put your safety above all 20. Seek understanding, not blame- Listen to your behavior; blaming prevents growth 21. If one way doesn't work, try another- As if in a maze, turn a corner and try a new path and substance abuse-Recognize substances as an attempt to self-medicate 23. Alone is better than a bad relationship- If only treaters are safe for now, that's okay 24. Create a new story- You are the author of your 25. Avoid avoidable suffering- Prevent bad situations in advance life: be the hero who overcomes adversity 26. Ask others - Ask others if your belief is accurate 27. Get organized- You'll feel more in control with lists, "to do's" and a clean house 28. Watch for danger signs- Face a problem before it becomes huge; notice red flags 29. Healing above all- Focus on what matters 30. Try something, anything- A good plan today is better 31. Discovery- Find out whether your assumption is true rather than staying "in your than a perfect one tomorrow 32. Attend treatment- AA, self-help, therapy, medications, groups- anything that keeps you going 33. Create a buffer- Put something between you and danger (e.g., time, distance) 34. Say what you really think- You'll feel closer to others (but only do this with safe people) 35. Listen to your needs- No more neglect-36. Move toward your opposite- E.g., if you are too dependent, try being more really hear what you need independent 37. Replay the scene-Review a negative event: what can you do differently next time? 38. Notice the cost- What is the price of substance abuse in your life?

39. Structure your day- A productive schedule keeps you on track and connected to the world 40. Set an action plan- Be specific, set a deadline, and let others know a bout it 41. Protect yourself- Put up a shield a gainst destructive people, bad environments, and substances 42. Soothing talk- Talk to yourself very gently (as if to a friend or small child)

from "Seeking Safety: Cognitive- Behavioral Therapy for PTSD and Substance Abuse" by Lisa M. Najavits, Ph.D.

43. Think of the consequences- Really see the impact for tomorrow, next week, next year 44. Trust the process- Just keep moving forward; the only way out is through 45. Work the material- The more you practice and participate, the quicker the healing 46. Integrate the split self- Accept all sides of yourself; they are there for a 47. Expect growth to feel uncomfortable- If it feels awkward or difficult you're doing it right 48. Replace destructive activities- Eat candy instead of getting high 49. Pretend you like yourself- See how different the day feels 50. Focus on now- Do what you can to make today better; don't get overwhelmed by the past or future 51. Praise yourself- Notice what you did right; this is the most powerful method of growth 52. Observe repeating patterns- Try to notice and understand your re-enactments 53. Self- nurture- Do something that you enjoy (e.g., take a walk, see a movie) 54. Practice delay- If you can't totally prevent a selfdestructive act, at least delay it as long as possible 55. Let go of destructive relationships- If it can't be fixed, 56. Take responsibility- Take an active, not a passive approach 57. Set a deadline- Make it happen 58. Make a commitment- Promise yourself to do what's right to help your recovery 59. Rethink- Think in a way that helps you feel better 60. Detach from emotional pain (grounding)-Distract, walk away, change the channel 61. Learn from experience- Seek wisdom that can help you next time 62. Solve the problem- Don't take it personally when things go wrong- try to just seek a solution 63. Use kinder language- Make your language less harsh 64. Examine the evidence- Evaluate both sides of the 65. Plan it out- Take the time to think ahead-it's the opposite of impulsivity 66. Identify the belief-For example, shoulds, deprivation reasoning 67. Reward yourself- Find a healthy way to celebrate anything you do right 68. Create new "tapes" Literally! Take a tape recorder and record a new way of thinking to play back 69. Find rules to live by- Remember a phrase that works for you (e.g., "Stay real") 70. Setbacks are not failures- A setback is just a setback, nothing more 71. Tolerate the feeling- "No feeling is final", just get through 72. Actions first and feelings will follow- Don't wait until you feel motivated; just start now 73. Create positive addictions- Sports, hobbies, AA... 74. When in doubt, don't- If you suspect danger, 75. Fight the trigger- Take an active approach to protect yourself 76. Notice the source-Before you accept criticism or advice, notice who's telling it to you 77. Make a decision- If you're stuck, try choosing the best solution you can right now; don't wait 78. Do the right thing- Do what you know will help you, even if you don't feel like it 79. Go to a meeting- Feet first; just get there and let the rest happen 80. Protect your body from HIV- This is truly a life-or-death issue 81. Prioritize healing- Make healing your most urgent and important goal, above all else 82. Reach for community resources- Lean on them! They can be a source of great support 83. Get others to support your recovery- Tell people what you need 84. Notice what you can control- List the aspects of your life you do control (e.g., job, friends...)

Detaching From Emotional Pain (Grounding)

WHAT IS GROUNDING?

Grounding is a set of simple strategies to detach from emotional pain (for example, drug cravings, self-harm impulses, anger, sadness). Distraction works by focusing outward on the external world-- rather than inward toward the self. You can also think of it as "distraction," "centering," "a safe place," "looking outward," or "healthy detachment."

WHY DO GROUNDING?

When you are overwhelmed with emotional pain, you need a way to detach so that you can gain control over your feelings and stay safe. As long as you are grounding, you cannot possibly use substances or hurt yourself! Grounding "anchors" you to the present and to reality.

Many people with PTSD and substance abuse struggle with either feeling too much (overwhelming emotions and memories) or too little (numbing and dissociation). In grounding, you attain balance between the two-- conscious of reality and able to tolerate it.

Guidelines

- Grounding can be done any time, any place, anywhere and no one has to know.
- ♦ Use grounding when you are: faced with a trigger, having a flashback, dissociating, having a substance craving, or when your emotional pain goes above 6 (on a 0-10 scale). Grounding puts healthy distance between you and these negative feelings.
- Keep your eyes open, scan the room, and turn the light on to stay in touch with the present.
- ♦ Rate your mood before and after to test whether it worked. Before grounding, rate your level of emotional pain (0-10, where means "extreme pain"). Then re-rate it afterwards. Has it gone down?
- ♦ No talking about negative feelings or journal writing. You want to distract away from negative feelings, not get in touch with them.
- ♦ Stay neutral-- no judgments of "good" and "bad". For example, "The walls are blue; I dislike blue because it reminds me of depression." Simply say "The walls are blue" and move on.
- Focus on the present, not the past or future.
- ♦ Note that grounding is not the same as relaxation training. Grounding is much more active, focuses on distraction strategies, and is intended to help extreme negative feelings. It is believed to be more effective for PTSD than relaxation training.

WAYS TO GROUND

Mental Grounding

- Describe your environment in detail using all your senses. For example, "The walls are white, there are five pink chairs, there is a wooden bookshelf against the wall..." Describe objects, sounds, textures, colors, smells, shapes, numbers, and temperature. You can do this anywhere. For example, on the subway: "I'm on the subway. I'll see the river soon. Those are the windows. This is the bench. The metal bar is silver. The subway map has four colors..."
- vith 'A", "categories" game with yourself. Try to think of "types of dogs", "jazz musicians", "states that begin with 'A", "cars", "TV shows", "writers", "sports", "songs", "European cities."
- Do an age progression. If you have regressed to a younger age (e.g., 8 years old), you can slowly work your way back up (e.g., "I'm now 9"; "I'm now 10"; "I'm now 11"...) until you are back to your current age.
- Describe an everyday activity in great detail. For example, describe a meal that you cook (e.g., "First I peel the potatoes and cut them into quarters, then I boil the water, I make an herb marinade of oregano, basil, garlic, and olive oil...").
- Imagine. Use an image: Glide along on skates away from your pain; change the TV channel to get to a better show; think of a wall as a buffer between you and your pain.
- Say a safety statement. "My name is____; I am safe right now. I am in the present, not the past. I am located in_____; the date is____."
 - © Guilford Press, New York. From: Najavits, L.M. Seeking Safety: A Treatment Manual for PTSD and Substance Abuse (2002). Only for personal use (with clients); for any other use contact <info@seekingsafety.org> or cpermissions@guilford.com>

- Read something, saying each word to yourself. Or read each letter backwards so that you focus on the letters and not on the meaning of words.
- Use humor. Think of something funny to jolt yourself out of your mood.
- Count to 10 or say the alphabet, very s..l..o..w..l..y.
- Repeat a favorite saying to yourself over and over (e.g., the Serenity Prayer).

Physical Grounding

- Run cool or warm water over your hands.
- Grab tightly onto your chair as hard as you can.
- Touch various objects around you: a pen, keys, your clothing, the table, the walls. Notice textures, colors,materials, weight, temperature. Compare objects you touch: Is one colder? Lighter?
- Dig your heels into the floor-- literally "grounding" them! Notice the tension centered in your heels as youdo this. Remind yourself that you are connected to the ground.
- Carry a grounding object in your pocket-- a small object (a small rock, clay, ring, piece of cloth or yarn) thatyou can touch whenever you feel triggered.
- Jump up and down.
- Notice your body: The weight of your body in the chair; wiggling your toes in your socks; the feel of yourback against the chair. You are connected to the world.
- Stretch. Extend your fingers, arms or legs as far as you can; roll your head around.
- Walk slowly, noticing each footstep, saying "left", "right" with each step.
- Eat something, describing the flavors in detail to yourself.
- Focus on your breathing, noticing each inhale and exhale. Repeat a pleasant word to yourself on eachinhale (for example, a favorite color or a soothing word such as "safe," or "easy").

Soothing Grounding

- Say kind statements, as if you were talking to a small child. E.g., "You are a good person going through ahard time. You'll get through this."
- Think of favorites. Think of your favorite color, animal, season, food, time of day, TV show.
- ❖ Picture people you care about (e.g., your children; and look at photographs of them).
- * Remember the words to an inspiring song, quotation, or poem that makes you feel better (e.g., the SerenityPrayer).
- ❖ Remember a safe place. Describe a place that you find very soothing (perhaps the beach or mountains, ora favorite room); focus on everything about that place-- the sounds, colors, shapes, objects, textures.
- ❖ Say a coping statement. "I can handle this", "This feeling will pass."
- Plan out a safe treat for yourself, such as a piece of candy, a nice dinner, or a warm bath.
- Think of things you are looking forward to in the next week, perhaps time with a friend or going to a movie.

WHAT IF GROUNDING DOES NOT WORK?

- Practice as often as possible, even when you don't "need" it, so that you'll know it by heart.
- Practice faster. Speeding up the pace gets you focused on the outside world quickly.
- Try grounding for a looooooonnnnngggg time (20-30 minutes). And, repeat, repeat, repeat.
- Try to notice whether you do better with "physical" or "mental" grounding.
- Create your own methods of grounding. Any method you make up may be worth much more than thoseyou read here because it is yours.
- Start grounding early in a negative mood cycle. Start when the substance craving just starts or whenyou have just started having a flashback.

Notes on self-care:

Self-Care and PTSD. People with PTSD often need to learn to take good care of themselves. For example, if you think about suicide a lot, you may not feel that it's worthwhile to take good care of yourself and may need to make special efforts to do so. If you were abused as a child you got the message that your needs were not important. You may think, "If no one else cares about me, why should I?" Now is the time to start treating yourself with respect and dignity.

Self-Care and Substance Abuse. Excessive substance use is one of the most extreme forms of self-neglect because it directly harms your body. And, the more you abuse substances the more you are likely to neglect yourself in other ways too (e.g., poor diet, lack of sleep).

Try to do a little more self-care each day. No one is perfect in doing everything on the list at all times. However, the goal is to take care of the most urgent priorities first and to work on improving your self-care through daily efforts. "Progress, not perfection."

Creating Meaning in PTSD and Substance Abuse

MEANINGS THAT HARM	DEFINITION	EXAMPLES	MEANINGS THAT HEAL
Deprivation Reasoning	Because you have suffered a lot, you deserve substances (or other destructive behavior).	I've had a hard time, so I'm entitled to get highIf you went through what I did, you'd cut your arm too.	Live Well. A happy, functional life will make up for your suffering far more than will hurting yourself. Focus on positive steps to make your life better.
I'm Crazy	You believe that you shouldn't feel the way you do	I must be crazy to be feeling this upsetI shouldn't have this craving.	Honor Your Feelings. You are not crazy. Your feelings make sense in light of what you have been through. You can get over them by talking about them and learning to cope.
Time Warp	It feels like a negative feeling will go on forever.	This craving won't stopIf I were to cry, I would never stop.	Observe Real Time. Take a clock and time how long it really lasts. Negative feelings will usually subside after a while; often they will go away sooner if you distract with activities.
Actions Speak Louder than Words	Show distress by actions, or people won't see the pain.	Scratches on my arml show what I feel An overdose will show them.	Break Through the Silence. Put feelings into words. Language is the most powerful communication for people to know you.
Beating Yourself Up	In your mind, you yell at yourself and put yourself down.	I'm a loser. I'm a no-good piece of dirt.	Love—Not Hate Creates Change. Beating yourself up does not change your behavior. Care and understanding promote real change.
The Past is the Present	Because you were a victim in the past, you are a victim in the present.	I can't trust anyone. I'm trapped.	Notice Your Power. Stay in the present: I am an adult (no longer a child); I have choices (I am not trapped); I am getting help (I am not alone).

The Escape	An escape is needed (e.g., food, cutting) because feelings are too painful	I'll never get over this; I have to cut myselfI can't stand cravings; I have to smoke a joint.	Keep Growing. Emotional growth and learning are the only real escape from pain. You can learn to tolerate feelings and solve problems.
Ignoring Cues	If you don't notice a problem it will go away.	If I just ignore this toothache it will go awayI don't abuse substances.	Attend to Your Needs. Listen to what you're hearing; notice what you're seeing; believe your gut feeling.
Dangerous Permission	You give yourself permission for self-destructive behavior.	Just one won't hurtI'll just buy a bottle of wine for a new recipe	Seek Safety. Acknowledge your urges and feelings and then find a safe way to cope with them.
The Squeaky Wheel Gets the Grease	If you get better you will not get as much attention from people	If I do well, my therapist won't notice me. No one will listen to me unless I'm in distress.	Get Attention from Success. People love to pay attention to success. If you don't believe this, try doing better and notice how people respond to you.
It's All My Fault	Everything that goes wrong is due to you.	The trauma was my fault If I have a disagreement with someone, it means I'm wrong.	Give Yourself a Break. Don't carry the world on your shoulders. When you have conflicts with others, try taking a 50-50 approach (50% is their responsibility, 50% is yours).
I am My Trauma	Your trauma is your identity; it is more important than anything else	My life is pain. I am what I have suffered	Create a Broad Identity. You are more than what you have suffered. Think of your different roles in life, your varied interests, your goals and hopes.

"Tough Cases" -- Rehearsing Difficult Client Scenarios

Below are examples of "tough cases" in the treatment of PTSD and substance abuse. They are organized by themes related to this dual diagnosis.

Trauma/PTSD:

- * "I'll never recover from PTSD."
- "Reading about trauma makes me want to burn myself."
- * "How can I give up substances when I still have such severe PTSD?"

Substance Abuse:

- "Using cocaine makes my PTSD better—I can't give it up."
- "It's my alter who drinks and she's not here now" (dissociative identity disordered client)
- * "I definitely think I can do controlled drinking."
- * "Do I have to get clean before working on my PTSD?"
- * "In AA they said to me, 'You don't drink because you were molested as a child, you drink because you're an alcoholic.'

Self-Nurturing:

- * "I just can't experience pleasure—nothing feels fun to me."
- * "All of the people I know drink to have a good time."
- "Whenever I try to do something pleasurable I feel guilty."
- * "My partner doesn't want me to go out of the house."

Safety:

- * "I don't want to stay safe; I want to die."
- * "Safe coping skills are a nice idea, but when I get triggered it's so fast that I don't even have time to think about what I'm doing."
- * "I feel like I need mourn my trauma now, not wait until later."

Boundaries in Relationships:

- * "I can't say 'no'. It makes me feel I'm being mean, like my abuser."
- * "When I say 'no' to my partner I get hit."
- * "I want to set a boundary with you-- stop telling me to get off substances! I'm not ready."
- * "You tell me to reach out to others, but I feel safer alone."
- * "My cousin keeps offering me crack no matter how much I say not to."

Honesty:

- * "But it will hurt the other person if I'm honest."
- * "I can be honest in the role-play, but in real life I could never do it."
- * "I won't tell my doctor that I abuse alcohol."
- * "Should I tell everyone at work that I'm an addict?"
- * "Are you telling me I'm a liar?"
- * "When I was growing up, I told my mother that my brother molested me and she said I was lying."

Creating Meaning:

- * "My thoughts are bad, just like I'm bad."
- * "But my negative thoughts really are true!"
- * "Positive thinking never works for me."

Important note: this measure assesses trauma-related problems in several categories. According to John Briere, PhD "The TSC-40 is a research instrument only. Use of this scale is limited to professional researchers. It is not intended as, nor should it be used as, a self-test under any circumstances." For a more current version of the measure, which can be used for clinical purposes (and for which there is a fee), consider the Trauma Symptom Inventory; contact Psychological Assessment Resources, 800-331-8378. The TSC-40 is freely available to researchers. No additional permission is required for use or reproduction of this measure, although the following citation is needed: Briere, J. N., & Runtz, M. G. Compassion Satisfaction and Fatigue Subscales—Revision IV

Helping people puts you in direct contact with their lives. As you probably have experienced, your compassion for those you help has both positive and negative aspects. We would like to ask you questions about your experiences, both positive and negative, as a helper. Consider each of the following questions about you and your current situation. Select the number that honestly reflects how frequently you experienced these characteristics in the last 30 days.

Self-scoring directions, if used as self-test

- 1. Be certain you respond to all items.
- 2. On some items the scores need to be reversed. Next to your response write the reverse of that score (i.e. 0=0, 1=5, 2=4, 3=3). Reverse the scores on these 5 items: 1, 4, 15, 17 and 29. Please note that the value 0 is not reversed, as its value is always null.
- 3. Mark the items for scoring:
 - a. Put an X by the 10 items that form the Compassion Satisfaction Scale: 3, 6, 12, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 27, 30.
 - b. Put a check by the 10 items on the Burnout Scale: 1, 4, 8, 10, 15, 17, 19, 21, 26, 29.
 - c. Circle the 10 items on the Trauma/Compassion Fatigue Scale: 2, 5, 7, 9, 11, 13, 14, 23, 25, 28.
- 4. Add the numbers you wrote next to the items for each set of items and compare with the average scores below.
- Compassion Satisfaction Scale. The average score is 37 (SD 7; alpha scale reliability .87). About 25% of people score higher than 42 and about 25% of people score below 33. If you are in the higher range, you probably derive a good deal of professional satisfaction from your position. If your scores are below 33, you may either find problems with your job, or there may be some other reason—for example, you might derive your satisfaction from activities other than your job.
- Burnout Scale. The average score on the burnout scale is 22 (SD 6.0; alpha scale reliability .72). About 25% of people score above 27 and about 25% of people score below 18. If your score is below 18, this probably reflects positive feelings about your ability to be effective in your work. If you score above 27 you may wish to think about what at work makes you feel like you are not effective in your position. Your score may reflect your mood; perhaps you were having a "bad day" or are in need of some time off. If the high score persists or if it is reflective of other worries, it may be a cause for concern.
- Trauma/Compassion Fatigue Scale. The average score on this scale is 13 (SD 6; alpha scale reliability .80). About 25% of people score below 8 and about 25% of people score above 17. If your score is above 17, you may want to take some time to think about what at work may be frightening to you or if there is some other reason for the elevated score. While higher scores do not mean that you do have a problem, they are an indication that you may want to examine how you feel about your work and your work environment. You may wish to discuss this with your supervisor, a colleague, or a health care professional.

If you have any concerns, you should discuss them with a health care professional
